Chris,

As you know, Park Strategies, LLC and I are registered with the U.S. Department of Justice, under the Foreign Agents Registration Act, as agents on behalf of our client, the Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office (TECRO) in the United States. I know you follow world events closely. So, I just wanted to make you aware of yesterday's meeting below between Taiwan President Ma Ying-jeou and U.S. Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton. This is a very significant event, and I doubt it had anything to do with chance. Thanks for your continued support of Taiwan.

Best wishes,

President meets U.S. secretary of state in El Salvador

2009.06.02 12:47:32

Tue, 06/02/2009 - 3:00pm

Yesterday at a state banquet hosted by outgoing Salvadoran President Elías Antonio Saca, Secretary Clinton and Taiwanese President Ma Ying-jeou had a rare informal chat when they shared a table and Clinton made the first move in greeting him and shaking hands.

The United States and Taiwan have not had formal relations since the United States severed diplomatic ties in 1979 in order to normalize relations with the People's Republic of China. Perhaps in keeping with the absence of formal ties, the Taiwanese president addressed Secretary Clinton as "Mrs. Clinton" while introducing himself as "the president of Taiwan."

Later, Ma told Taiwanese media that the informal chat was typical of "courtesy encounters" that occur at diplomatic functions.

Sarah,

Thanks for your kind reply. As far as I know, the calls went fine. But funny enough, they didn't let me listen in!

In fact, I'll be back in Taiwan the weekend after next. Take care, enjoy your weekend, and I'm sure I'll be in touch with you for the next major Taiwan event. Take care, thanks again.

With very best wishes,
Sean King
